Dear Editor,

I am a keen Chelsea fan, and I wondered if Stamford Street (where your new offices are situated) is near to Stamford Bridge. Also can you please print a picture of one of the Chelsea players?

PETER STRAW, Bolton.

No, Peter, we're about three miles from 'The Bridge', but being in a high office block we can see Chelsea's flood lights on a clear day. Also, here's a picture of Ian Britton for you . . . Editor.

Dear Editor,

Every week I buy two comics with some of my pocket money. One is Monster Fun and the other is WHOOPEE! I think they are both very good, but if I had to choose the one I liked best, it would be WHOOPEE! Some time ago we had a photographer come to our school to take photographs of all the children. Everyone was very excited. Here is a copy of the photograph that was taken of me. I like it, and I hope you do too.

PAUL LATO, Liverpool.

Dear Prof. Cube,

Thank you very much indeed for not sending Frankie Stein to Rothénus during the last week in May this year, because I went there then with my school for a holiday. We didn't want a clumsy, great lump like him spoiling our holiday. As I said, thanks for not sending him there . . .and as a result we all had a lovely time.

ANITA WILKINSON, Enfield.

At last! Someone who dislikes Frankie as much as I do! I know I'm desperate to get rid of him, but I wouldn't have spoilt your holiday to do it . . . Prof. Cube.

Dear Editor,

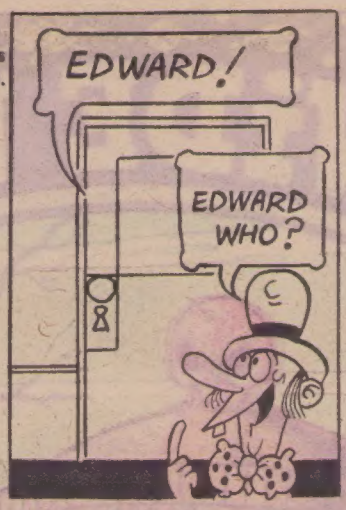
My mum bought me an autograph book for my birthday last year. So far I have collected the autographs of Norman Wisdom, Bobby Winsdor, the pop group Candlewick Green, Johny Tudor, Kevin Keegan, Frankie Laine, The Barron Knights, Iris William, Bryn Phillips and Paper Lace. Not bad, eh?

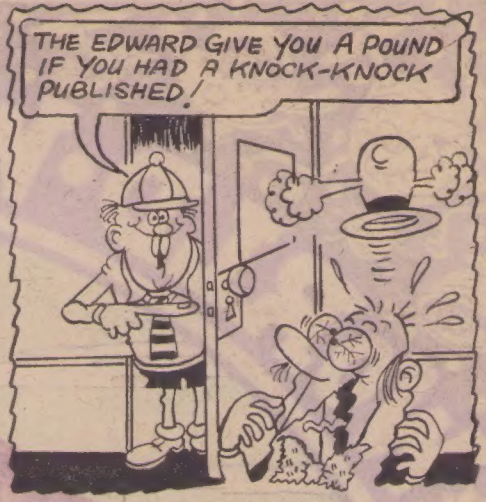
LINDA SWIDENBANK, Penllwyn.

I often have to sign my autograph on things, you know, Linda. Trouble is, those things are usually bills . . . Editor.

KNOCK-KNOCK

WHOOPEE! READER from LIVERPOOL receives £1 as this week's winner. Send your entry to KNOCK-KNOCK at the WHOOPEE! address. In cases of duplication the first entry received will be judged.





Dear Editor,

We thought that you might like to hear about the project that some friends and ourselves are undertaking. We are abiding by the motto 'Keep Britain Tidy', which means that every day we go along and clean up a different road in our area. Perhaps other readers will follow our example.

B.and V. BEECH, Bexhill-On-Sea.

Sounds as if you're setting a fine example. Keep up the good work . . . Editor.

Dear Editor,

My favourite hobby is cricket. I play for the Helston Under-13's, who last year were champions of Cornwall. At the moment I am still trying to get a complete set of cricket gear. So far I've got a bat, a pair of batting gloves and a thigh pad, which doesn't seem very much, but they did cost a lot of money.

CHRISTOPHER DAWSON, Helston.

Well there's £1 on its way to you, Chris, so I suggest you put it towards getting a cricket bag for carrying that stuff around in . . . Editor.

Dear Editor,

My hobby is breeding white mice. I have 12 at the moment, but they are proving very expensive to keep and feed because of rising costs. I think mice are lovely animals, and not things to be frightened of at all. If I am lucky enough to have my letter printed, I shall put my £1 prize-money towards looking after my pets. Oh, yes, I nearly forgot, I keep budgerigars as well.

COLIN BELLFIELD, Widnes Halton.

Okay, Colin, it's cheese and birds' seed all round for your lot, courtesy of WHOOPEE! . . . Editor.

Dear Editor,

During the last Easter holidays I went to a holiday camp at Minehead with Elson Junior School. We did many interesting and exciting things such as swimming, playing table tennis, sword fencing, Judo and even taking part in an 'It's a Knockout' game. We also went on several outings, which included visiting Cheddar Gorge, and while we were there we climbed something called Jacob's ladder, which had 276 steps.

GRAHAM WAKE, Gosport.

Sounds just the sort of holiday I'd like, Graham. Oh to be back at school again . . . Editor.

Dear Editor,

Some time ago I caught a bad cold, and eventually lost my voice altogether. Mum said it would be best if I stayed in bed, and later she came upstairs to make sure I was feeling comfortable. Then, as she was leaving the room she said: "Don't forget, if you want anything, just SHOUT!"

BRIAN McGEE, Portland.

Dear Editor,

Last summer my dad decided to make a new pond in our back garden. He had finished lining it, and then turned on the garden hose to fill the pond with water. While it was filling up, he decided to come indoors for a cup of tea. After 10 minutes my brother Mark decided to walk out into the garden reading his copy of WHOOPEE! Suddenly there was a big splash. Mark had fallen in, comic and all. He had been so engrossed in WHOOPEE! that he hadn't noticed the pond.

MISS J. SHORT, Lingdale.

Bet Mark felt a proper 'drip' after that . . . Editor.
